Council Clears Jews Of Blame For Crucifixion

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI today promulgated five Ecumenical Council decrees, including an historic declaration clearing Jews of collective guilt for the death of Christ.

The Pope said the council had opened "a new relation" between the Catholic church and modern times.

"We are promulgating four decrees of great importance for the life of the church and a not less solemn declaration on the relations of the Catholic church with those who profess other religions," the pontiff told more than 2,000 bishops assembled in St. Peter's Basilica for the ratification ceremony.

Council delegates cast "pro forma" votes officially approving the five documents and the Pope, speaking from his throne in the center of Christendom's largest church, declared them in effect.

All five had been overwhelmingly approved in informal voting earlier this month.

The decrees envisioned a wide renovation of church discipline and practice affecting the pastoral duties of bishops, religious life, Christian schools and seminaries.

Today's vote was counted by computer as the pontiff celebrated mass with 24 council prelates, including some from behind the Iron Curtain.

In his remarks, the Pope said the purpose of the council was "to discover not the old age of the church, but the useful energy of its perennial vitality and to re-establish with the times of today... a new relation."

The decree on non-Christians decries anti-Semitism and discrimination because of "race, color, condition in life, or religion." It states that Jews must never again be presented as "rejected or accursed" or burdened with collective responsibility for the crucifixion.

Test Pilot Goes Up 45 Miles In X15 Plane

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI)—The X15 was flown to an altitude of almost 45 miles Wednesday by test pilot John McKay to measure noise and potential stress hazards on future space vehicles.

The No. 3 X15 carried five special microphones to record noise intensity on the boundary layer of air flowing around the surface of the plane.

A horizon scanner mounted on the rear of the fuselage also was used to "closely define" the earth's horizon as the X15 reached a height of 237,000 feet and a speed of 3,477 miles an hour or mach 4.7.

Cuba Calls Off Refugee Flow In Small Boats

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI)—The Cuban government announced today the hazardous small boat exodus to freedom across the choppy Florida Straits will end tonight at midnight.

The announcement apparently paved the way for an orderly airlift of Cubans dissatisfied with Fidel Castro's Communist regime.

The planes would land in Florida and most of the refugees would be resettled in other areas of the United States.

The official government announcement from Havana said that the refugee flow would be halted at midnight, but added that all boats docked at Camarioca and Vardero would be allowed to leave with their human cargo.

Havana Radio announced Wednesday night that there were "about 200 boats" anchored at the small north coastal Cuban villages waiting to leave.

Two boats arrived early this morning with 17 Cubans aboard and more were on the way.

The Coast Guard in Miami reported one of the boats on the way across the straits carried 125 refugees. It was identified as "The Little Moe."

The Coast Guard said today it still was searching for a missing refugee boat, the Esperanza.

"We have one refugee report that the boat may have headed back to Camarioca after running into bad weather," a Coast Guard spokesman said.

New Law Creates Department Of Mental Health

LANSING (UPI)—Acting Gov. William Milliken today signed into law a measure creating the state's fourth department—the Department of Mental Health.

The new department comes under the constitutional requirement to consolidate the state's more than 150 departments and agencies into 19 new departments under the Executive Reorganization Act.

Dr. Robert Kimmich will remain head of the department.

The Mental Health Department has been raked with criticism over the past two years because of the high number of suicides at Ionia State Hospital.

The department also is among those asking for the highest appropriations each year to improve mental health standards at the institutions.

Red Raid Stopped At Da Nang Base

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (UPI)—U. S. Marine patrols moved out today in pursuit of Viet Cong units who did an estimated $10 million damage to U. S. planes in simultaneous suicide attacks on two American installations.

The Communists, who destroyed or damaged 47 U. S. aircraft in the midnight attacks, were stopped before reaching their primary target, the main airbase at Da Nang, it was disclosed.

Maj. Gen. Lewis Walt, commander of U. S. Marine forces in Viet Nam, said at a news conference the guerrillas were spotted and chased by alert leatherneck units and heavy artillery before reaching the center of the Da Nang complex.

It also was disclosed today that more than 600 Viet Cong were known dead in three other campaigns.

A spokesman said 382 rebels were confirmed killed in the past 16 days by Vietnamese troops guarding the rice harvest in Phu Yen province, 230 miles northeast of Saigon.

Thirty-seven Viet Cong were killed Wednesday by American paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division in "sniper valleys," 270 miles northeast of the capital.

Bodies of at least 201 guerrillas were found around the Plei Me U. S. Special Forces outpost in the central highlands, where an eight day siege was broken this week.

The Communist commando teams succeeded today in assaults at the Marble Mountain facility east of Da Nang, 385 miles northeast of Saigon, and the Chu Lai air strip roughly 50 miles south of the main base.

They wrecked planes costing

$2.5 million each and helicopters ranging in price from $200,000 to $250,000 apiece.

"This was a suicide attack," Walt told the news conference. Pickup 4th pgh

Crusade Urged For Income Tax

LANSING (UPI)—A state lawmaker Wednesday called on newspapers, radio and television stations to carry on an "editorial crusade" in support of a statewide income tax.

Rep. George F. Montgomery, D-Detroit, charged there was a lack of public knowledge during the fall session of the Legislature which tried to pass a fiscal reform program.

"If newspaper space and radio and television broadcast time had been devoted to presenting information on the need for tax reform—and on the details of tax revision proposals—the people of this state might be ready now to accept tax revision, and even an income tax," Montgomery said.

Montgomery, who has been a supporter of tax reform in Michigan, said lawmakers planned an information campaign to "build up public awareness of the need" for fiscal reform.

Gov. George Romney recommended a 3 per cent flat rate income tax and a 4 per cent corporate tax during the fall session of the Legislature but saw both houses reject the plan.

"The only thing we can pass next year is a flat rate plan," Montgomery said. "Something along the line the governor recommended."

Parolee Stages Revenge Binge

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—A little too much to drink brought ideas of revenge to a 33-year-old parolee Wednesday.

Police said Keith Bird of Grand Rapids, who had been released from prison last June, had been drinking Tuesday night and apparently set out to get even with people he thought were responsible for his conviction.

He was sentenced in Oct. 1958 to an 8-to-10 year term in connection with arson in the spectacular blaze which destroyed gas and oil tanks owned by the Cornell and Verbrugge Oil Co.

A former brother-in-law, Thomas Kehl, was sentenced with him in connection with the same crime.

Police said Bird went to Kehl's home and rammed his car into Kehl's auto and then slugged Kehl.

Then he went to the home of his former employer, George Plafkin and broke up furniture, pictures, television sets and other furnishings.

The damage was estimated to be about $2,500. He was arrested at Plafkin's home.

Bird waived examination in police court Wednesday and was placed in jail to await circuit court arraignment.

Soviets Launch 94th Satellite

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russia today launched the 94th satellite of its Cosmos series designed to further exploration of space, the Tass news agency reported.

Cosmos 94 carries instruments for further continuation of the program, the official news agency said.

The last satellite of the series—Cosmos 93—was placed into orbit Oct. 19.

Signs Draw Fine

WILLIAMANTIC, Conn. (UPI)—A liquor store owner who erected a roadside sign which read "watch out—nudist crossing ahead," was fined $40 in court Wednesday.

Police said Bernard Patenaude also erected a sign on his property that read "look out for flying fish." The signs were described as "a business gimmick."

Detroit Youth Gets Life For Holdup Killing

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—One Detroit teenager was given a life term in prison Wednesday and another a long prison term for the holdup slaying of a supermarket manager here July 9.

Walter T. Codd, 17, was ordered by Circuit Judge Fred N. Searl to serve a life term at hard labor after finding him guilty of first degree murder late Wednesday after a two-day hearing to determine the degree of guilt.

His companion, Reuben Herrera, 19, who previously pleaded guilty to second degree charges, was given a 13-25 year term.

Codd, who admitted he pulled the trigger in the slaying, had pleaded guilty to open murder charges. The first degree guilt was determined at the two-day hearing which was followed by the sentences.

They were accused in the fatal shooting of James L. Walter, 27, the store manager, who grappled with Codd and was shot while the latter was attempting a getaway after the holdup on July 9.

Herrera and Codd abandoned the car and were arrested near the scene. About $1,637 was taken in the pickup of the Kroger Supermarket.

Codd was armed with a .32 caliber special snub nose pistol.

Walter, an ex-marine, who only recently had been transferred from a Kroger store at Benton Harbor, was shot in the chest and was dead on arrival at a local hospital.

Codd testified they stole a car in Detroit and had intended to hold up a bank or market in Lansing but passed the exits at Lansing and decided to go to Grand Rapids.

Lindsay Leads New York Poll

NEW YORK (UPI)—Democrat Abraham D. Beame, faced by the greatest Republican challenge since Fiorello La Guardia became mayor of this Democratic stronghold, charged today that his opponent, Rep. John V. Lindsay, has resorted to gutter politics.

"My Republican opponent has managed to drag himself from the penthouses of Park Avenue right into the gutter," Beame said as the campaign entered the final stages for Tuesday's election.

He said every time someone shows up Lindsay "for his total ignorance, he covers up by a personal attack."

Lindsay, who represents Manhattan's "silk stocking" district in Congress has been leading Beame in one newspaper poll—The Daily News—some time and today the poll reported him widening his lead. Beame was ahead in another newspaper—The Herald Tribune—but, again, Lindsay was closing.

Beame's latest cause of concern was the fact that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey came to town Tuesday night to give his support—but without word of endorsement from President Johnson. The White House has not explained Johnson's silence.

Miss Teenage America To Be Picked Friday

DALLAS (UPI)—Seven pretty teen-agers were chosen finalists in the Miss Teenage America contest today during a tearful, noisy meeting in a hotel ballroom.

The seven survivors from among 60 candidates from all over the country were:

Cynthia Anne Byrum, 17, of Charlotte, N.C.; Linda Sullivan, 17, of Dallas; Judy Jacob, 17, of Detroit; Colette Agnes Dalute, 16, of New York City; Deborah Mary Sale, 17, of Poplar Bluff, Mo.; Carol Ann Hare, 16, of San Antonio, Tex. and Le Anne Davidson Turner, 16, of Tulsa, Okla.

Plans Revealed For Rendezvous Of 2 Spacecraft

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI)—The White House announced plans today to attempt a December or January rendezvous in space between the manned Gemini 7 and Gemini 6 spacecraft, each carrying a two-man crew.

Taxpayers Assn. Acts On Ballot

The Escanaba Taxpayers Association today issued the following statement through its secretary, Harold W. Gasman, on its position on the two issues to be voted in next Tuesday's special election in Escanaba:

At a recent meeting of the Escanaba Area Taxpayers Association, membership voted in favor of the City of Escanaba investing the million dollars received from the sale of the gas distribution system, and using only the interest for capital improvements.

However, the taxpayers group do not feel that this money should be left in investments for a long period of years, the main reason being that, with continuing inflation which this country seems to be stuck with, the interest on this investment would almost entirely be eaten up by the decreasing value of the dollar — and the million dollars.

If, at some time in the future, a worthwhile community improvement project should develop and federal and state matching funds obtained for it, then the program should be submitted to the people for their approval or rejection.

The taxpayer group therefore urges the people of Escanaba to vote yes on proposal No. 1 on Tuesday.

Proposal No. 2

Now, as to Proposal No. 2, that would give the firemen and policemen a pension of half their salaries at 55, after 25 years of service, plus other benefits.

1st — We wish to say that it is just too bad that the police and firemen must be given the same consideration. The policemen work every day and their work is as hard as anyone's and certainly not as safe an occupation as most. They therefore should have some special consideration.

Under a new state law, just enacted, the firemen will now work one day and then be off duty two days, which gives them the opportunity to accept other employment (the vast majority do now) and therefore are also eligible for Social Security.

This new law will necessitate the employment of several additional firemen and the taxpayers must foot the bill to the tune of approximately $25,000, besides the more than $20,000 it would cost to put this proposed pension plan into effect.

Called Discrimination

Then, too, we feel it would be direct discrimination against the other city employees who get one-third their wages as pension and do not get their pension until 60. These other city employees would be justified in asking for the same benefits, which would cost another $75,000. This all would raise the city taxes over two mills and would be a continuous and rising cost.

Corrections should be made on several erroneous statements made public recently.

The police and firemen were not excluded from Social Security, except by their own wishes.

The statement that this new Act would only give what other employees get and that it would cost little more than the present plan, simply is not true. Act 345 would give the police and firemen much more than the City employees are getting and would cost the taxpayers twice as much.

Present Plan

Further, the present plan, Act 135, now in force, does provide death and permanent injury benefits. They are also covered under Workmen's Compensation.

Further, most cities have not adopted this new plan. Actually less than 10 per cent have adopted it.

In all sincerity, we can only urge a No vote on Proposal No. 2 next Tuesday.

Douglas Moves 1,500 Workers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Douglas Aircraft Co. plans to recruit and move 1,500 skilled workers cross-country to its Long Beach, Calif., plant, the Labor Department reported.

Douglas, faced with a shortage of trained aircraft workers in southern California, will get them on Long Island, N.Y., where several thousand such employees have been laid off.

CURTIS L. LARSEN, a native of Stonington in Delta County, has been promoted to the position of controller of Aeroquip's Barco Division at Barrington, Ill. He is the son of Mrs. Wildmer Larsen, Rapid River and is a graduate of Michigan State University. Larsen will direct all accounting functions of the division, which manufactures ball, swivel, and rotary joints and railroad speed indicators.

Mustang Atop Empire State

NEW YORK (UPI) — Visitors to the 86th floor of the Empire State Building, where on a clear day you can see forever, are finding something they did not expect to be up there — an automobile.

It is a 1966 white Mustang convertible and getting it up there was no easy chore because it is the biggest and heaviest object ever put on display near the top of the world's tallest building.

A team of eight men from the Ford Motor Co. came to New York at the invitation of Robert L. Luey, vice president and general manager of the building, to move the car to the observation tower.

Initial plans for the wacky project were made by Luey and William P. Benton, Ford Division merchandising manager. After they worked out their idea, the automobile was dismantled at Ford's Dearborn, Mich., headquarters. It was split into four sections — windshield, front end, center body section and rear quarter — and moved to New York.

The dismantled sections were maneuvered, sometimes at an odd angle, into an elevator and taken to the observation deck where they were reassembled. "Putting the Mustang atop the Empire State Building proved to be one of the most successful events of its kind," Lee Iacocca, a vice president of Ford, told UPI. "We have found that when we put our new models where they are currently not seen — for example railroad stations, air terminals, busy hotel lobbies — it frequently draws more attention than in a show room. This is a demonstration that showmanship pays."

Approximately 14,000 persons a day visit the 86th floor observatory and some of them were puzzled. "You flew it up here," one man said. "You had to." Iacocca said plans are being made to keep the Mustang in its high-flying perch until next spring.

Researcher Made Ill By Virus In His Experiments

VIENNA (UPI) — Dr. Hans Moritsch, Austria's foremost virus researcher, lies critically ill today, a victim of his own experiments. Moritsch, 41, collapsed in his laboratory 12 days ago while conducting tests with animals and is believed suffering from the virus he was trying to isolate and define.

Record Space Flight Dec. 8

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — The U.S. Space Agency, sacrificing time for added rocket power, will wait until at least Dec. 8 to launch two astronauts on a trip 209 times around earth.

During the record flight, Gemini 7 pilots Frank Borman and James Lovell will try to "fly in formation" with their orbiting booster rocket, photograph other missiles launched from Earth, and talk with a ground station over a beam of light called a "laser."

But a slim possibility the mission could be advanced to November was erased Wednesday when agency officials decided on a complete switch of space machinery at Cape Kennedy's launch pad 19.

At first, engineers had hoped to forego the time-consuming task of erecting another booster rocket by using the Titan 2 left over from Monday's abortive attempt to send Gemini 6 astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford on a "chase in space" with another satellite.

But, experts said, there was one small although telling difference: The Titan 2 booster planned originally for the Gemini 7 flight proved slightly more powerful than the rocket beneath Schirra and Stafford.

Because Gemini 7 must carry added fuel and water for a 14-day flight as well as equipment for 19 separate experiments, the spaceship will weigh perhaps several hundred pounds more than Gemini 6. It will need all the power it can get to reach the right orbit.

Borman and Lovell, both rookie astronauts, plan to spend 331 hours 18 minutes aloft from liftoff to landing — far surpassing the world record of 190 hours 59 minutes set by Gemini 5 pilots L. Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad last Aug. 21-29.

Clark Favors More Bombings

DETROIT (UPI) — Gen. Mark Clark said Wednesday he believed recent demonstrations against U.S. policy in Viet Nam on college campuses "are fomented by Communists."

Gen. Clark was in Detroit to speak on "The Continuing Challenge of Communism" at a hospital benefit.

Clark, who recently returned from Viet Nam, said he knew many soldiers and officers "who were utterly disgusted and dumbfounded that the demonstrators were getting so much attention."

He blamed Communists, he said, for infiltrating the student groups "by a lot of long-haired youngsters" who don't want to serve in the armed forces.

On the war itself, Clark urged greater bombing of North Viet Nam, and if the Chinese enter the conflict, "go inside China and hit them hard."

The former U.N. commander during the Korean conflict said that although the U.S. may not be winning the war in Viet Nam at the present time, we "are making progress and the balance is now in our favor."

"I'm not for a manpower war," declared Clark. "I believe we should fight the Communists more by our naval and air forces."

In calling for the increase of bombings, Clark said, "If we are going to the peace table, it is best that we go in a position of strength."

Brazil President Takes Dictatorship Authority

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — President Humberto Castello Branco governed Brazil today with greater power than any Brazilian chief executive has had since the wartime dictatorship of Getulio Vargas.

Today's newspapers published the terms of the "Institutional Act" Castello decreed Wednesday after Congress failed to approve two constitutional amendments which would have extended his powers.

Vast Power

The 33-article act gives him all the authority the amendments would have — and then some.

It empowers the president to: — Proclaim a six-month "state of siege" — modified martial law — or take over the government of Brazil's 22 states at any time to "prevent or suppress subversion."

— Close Congress or any state legislature at any time.

— Enact laws which automatically become effective in 45 days whether Congress has approved them or not.

— Replace Supreme Court justices at will.

— Deprive individuals of political rights.

The act also empowers military courts to deal with political offenses.

No Popular Vote

It abolishes political parties and provides that Brazil's next president shall be elected by Congress rather than by popular vote. The election is to be held before Oct. 3, 1966, on a date selected by Castello.

Close surveillance is to be kept on persons deprived of political rights under an institutional act in force last year, and their movements are to be restricted. This provision apparently was aimed at ex-President Juscelino Kubitschek, whose Socialist party won gubernatorial elections in two of the nation's most important states this month.

The act is to remain in force until March 15, 1967. Its provisions can be added to or amended by the president at any time.

Justice Minister Juracy Magalhães assured the nation Wednesday night that Castello will use his powers with moderation.

Two Spending Bills Vetoed

LANSING (UPI) — Acting Gov.

William G. Milliken today vetoed multi-million dollar social legislation for homestead tax relief for senior citizens and disabled veterans and a measure to give a $1.2 million supplemental appropriation to eight state universities.

Milliken said he vetoed the bills "to safeguard Michigan's overall fiscal integrity."

"With Michigan facing a likely deficit situation within the next two years unless new revenues are provided, it is unreasonable to approve such additional spending required in this and other bills adopted in recent weeks," Milliken said.

The Legislature during its fall session failed to pass a proposed 3 per cent statewide income tax and a 4 per cent corporate institutions tax which would have funneled $183 million into the state's treasury.

The bipartisan tax reform package was not even considered, as the House Democratic caucus failed to place it on the fall agenda.

The senior citizens homestead tax relief measure would have cost the state an estimated $6 million. The veterans provision would have cost $4 million.

Milliken also warned the state's budget for 1967-68 would "inevitably result in a deficit" unless there were new revenues.

He predicted the budget for next fiscal year would have to be increased by $94 million to "simply maintain a stand-still position."

The state currently has a surplus of $135 million, but is having to dip into it to meet current expenditure levels voted by the Legislature.

Poverty Budget Called Inadequate

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Eli Ginzberg of Columbia University said Tuesday even with a 1966 budget of $1.5 billion the government's anti-poverty program "will not reach more than one out of every 10 poor persons in the country."

Ginzberg, an economics professor, said the federal government cannot do the job alone, but needs the help of local initiative and action.

Nurses To Act On Bargaining

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Michigan registered nurses voted overwhelmingly Wednesday to expand the role of the organization in collective bargaining.

The action was taken by the Michigan Nurses Association at its annual convention here and was taken in the light of recent changes in the Hutchinson Act which allows public employees to bargain collectively. About 1,200 delegates are here for the convention.

"Regardless of what organization asks to be recognized as the bargaining unit for public employees, nurses will speak for nurses and nursing," said Luther Christman, PH.D., R.N., of Ann Arbor, president of the Michigan Nurses Association.

"By moving more vigorously to be the organization representing nurses in collective bargaining situations, MNA will be meeting their responsibilities to the profession and the public more effectively," he said.

The association has about 7,000 members.

Boys Set $10,000 Fire At School

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Two boys, 12 and 13 years old, have admitted setting a $10,000 fire at the Eastern Orthopedic School last Sunday, Juvenile Division policemen said Wednesday.

The school reopened Tuesday after 40 maintenance workers from other schools were brought in to clean up the water and smoke damage.

Fires Hit 1500 Homes In U.S.A. Every 24 Hours

CHICAGO (UPI) — Fires in the United States damage or destroy an average 1,500 homes every 24 hours, a safety expert told the annual National Safety Congress and Exposition.

Floyd B. Oglesby, a family safety consultant with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said fires also damaged or destroyed 14 schools, 8 churches, 5 nursing homes, 5 hospitals, 120 stores and 135 industrial plants each day. The National Safety Council said 7,700 died from fires and burns last year.

Oglesby said fire is the second leading cause of accidental death in the home.

In another speech, a mining official called for a program to upgrade the image of the mining industry and its significance to the national welfare.

James K. Richardson, vice president, Copper Range Co., New York City, said there is a lack of qualified candidates for the jobs available in the mining industry.

"Too long mining has been the industry displayed in fiction as existing because of its avaricious demands upon its employees," Richardson said.

Richardson said such an image "is scarcely designed to attract the badly needed technical or operational skills."

Approximately 12,000 safety specialists will attend the various sessions of the congress, which ends Thursday.

Parent-Teacher Conference Well Attended

ROCK — The Parent-Teachers conference was well attended Monday evening at the school. Parents picked up students' report cards and had a chance to confer with their children's teacher.

Predators Get Geese, Ducks In Rock Area

A short business meeting followed the conference. Mrs. Robert Weingartner reported that 71 students have signed up for the dental program and 20 have already been completed. Chaperones taking turns on the bus on Tuesday forenoons are Mrs. John Peltonen, Mrs. Betty Sharkey, Mrs. Les Maki, Mrs. Anti Waak, Mrs. Vic Mankiewicz and chairman, Mrs. Robert Weingartner.

ROCK — Coyotes and bobcat have been molesting poultry in the Rock area recently.

Last Wednesday night Nancy Weldum lost a full grown goose to a coyote which came into the barnyard where the geese sleep at night and left a trail for a quarter of a mile where he carried it into the woods. Last year she lost two turkey hens and five young turkeys.

The Saving program began this Thursday morning. Evelyn Kivela will collect money at the school each Thursday from 8:30 until 9 a. m., starting Oct. 28.

Harold Lusardi, north of Rock, lost a big gander, a duck and two rabbits. A bobcat has invaded the barn on several nights.

Hermansville

The PTA voted to observe "trick or treat" on Friday, Oct. 29 from 6:30 until 8 p. m. A dance, sponsored by the Rock 4-H will follow from 8 to 10 p. m., at the Lions Clubhouse. Prizes will be awarded for best costumes. Students age 10-14 are invited.

Father-Son Breakfast
The Father-Son Breakfast at St. Mary's Church, Hermansville will be Sunday, Oct. 31, after the 8 a. m. mass. Reservations can be made with Merrill Vincent, Reno Fochesato, Bernard Poquette, Donald Hornick, Frank Rodman and Richard Grenier. The ladies of St. Ann's Altar Society will serve the meal.

Edward Ahlgren informed the group that students whose parents are receiving 100 per cent disability are eligible for college assistance. For further information contact Richard Morrison, Escanaba.

Richard Grenier, Meyer Township Constable on patrol Sunday evening counted 21 deer from 8 to 9 p. m., from the area near the Hermansville Beach to the IXL millyard.

Mrs. Vogt's room won the attendance award for two consecutive months.

Lunch was served in the home ec room by mothers of Mrs. Biscomb and Mrs. Lepisto's students.

The next meeting will be on Nov. 22.

Spending That Million

Escanaba voters will ballot in a special election Tuesday, Nov. 2 on two proposals. One is:

"Shall the City continue to invest the funds received from the sale of the gas utility, approximately $1,000,000 and expend only the interest received therefrom for capital improvements?"

City Council put the question on the ballot. City councilmen were elected by the voters and have authority to spend the money without the counsel of the electorate. They choose to ask it.

The action taken by council in referring the issue to the voters has no continuing validity because it doesn't bind future councils and our councilmen serve for only two years.

The Press urges a "No" vote on the advisory election not on any legalistic grounds, but because it believes that the people of Escanaba can provide benefits for themselves and their community by the judicious investment of this money in the community which will be for greater, over the years, than the $42,000 in annual interest earnings which are in prospect with the continued investment of this million in securities.

We suggest these considerations to the voters:

1. The trend in the United States has for years been toward cheaper money. There is no reason to believe that this trend will not continue and diminish the relative value of the million dollar nest egg. In other words, that if well spent now its benefits should be worth more than a million some year hence, and if retained its worth could be less than a million in terms of present values.

2. It will be an insidious influence on city government financing. The city government is under great pressures to spend. It takes a resolute city council to resist these pressures even when they are indeed equitable. The presence of a million dollars in the city treasury will influence every major decision of city expenditure while the nest egg endures in that status of surplus.

It is suggested that its interest earnings will provide the means for a continuing public works program (with state and federal matching funds) which will make tax levies for such works unnecessary. It is as responsible to believe that its presence will be a stimulation for extra city costs which will, over the years, balance out the earnings of the fund and negate its benefits.

An example of this process at work is presented by the very ballot which asks voters to approve the City plan to keep invested the million dollars in the gas fund. The second question on the ballot asks approval of a special pension for policemen and firemen which would take the equivalent of half of the earnings of the million dollars in interest every year to pay the extra costs of the pension system.

3. The city has needs which should be considered as legitimate bidders for this fund or a part of it. They include a much-needed revitalization of the city's downtown retailing district.

4. The city government should be even more concerned with growth than with saving. It should be concerned with its citizens' means for paying their taxes and it should nourish the community economy and culture whenever possible to this end. This process is a much better prospect for a financially healthy community than a tax saving of $42,000 a year in a city budget of $2.6 million.

The Press counsels a "No" vote not in renunciation of council's obvious and proper action in investment of the gas fund, but in vetoing any suggestion that the money should be put in a deep freeze. Council should be looking for ways to invest it in Escanaba so that it will buy benefits that total a lot more than a million dollars and that shouldn't be difficult.

We are not advocating an effort to spend ourselves rich, but at the same time we're not impressed with the prospects of saving ourselves rich. We hope instead for the best possible use of the City's resources and we don't believe that they consist of investment in securities instead of in Escanaba.

The Doctor Says:

Lead Poisoning

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Q—How is lead poisoning acquired? What are the symptoms? Am I right that there is no known cure?

A—Lead poisoning is acquired in children by gnawing the paint from window sills or cribs or eating paint that has flaked from walls. This is becoming rare because modern paints for interior decorating no longer contain lead. The poisoning may also be acquired by drinking water that has stood in lead pipes but this is rare where modern plumbing is used.

Painters who use lead paint may get it if they do not take precautions. Another hazard is inhaling fumes from the burning of old storage batteries. Lead bullets or buckshot that are not removed from the body is another source.

The victim may carry an accumulation of lead in his bones throughout the winter and then get an attack of lead colic. With the onset of cold weather heat mobilizes the lead and releases it into the blood.

An attack of fever or an alcoholic binge will have the same effect. In addition to abdominal pains there may be weakness due to the effect of the lead on the brain.

Prevention is the best treatment but the careful use of ethylenediamine calcium disodium will rid the body of its accumulated lead. If, however, lead poisoning has caused severe brain damage, treatment will not restore the damaged cells.

Q—I have had leukoplakia for 5 years. Treatment has done me no good. I am told it is incurable.

A—Since the white patch of leukoplakia that occurs on mucous surfaces often does become cancerous, a specimen of the tissue involved should be examined microscopically. If it cannot be shown beyond doubt to be a benign lesion, it may also be removed surgically to prevent cancer.

Q—I have glaucoma and use iscarpine drops in my eyes. Warts have been breaking out on my upper and lower eyelids. Could they be caused by the drops? In any case how can I remove them and keep them from returning?

A—Warts are caused by a virus—not by the eye drops. Have your doctor or a skin specialist treat the warts with freezing or an electric needle.

Q—I am using drops of Neosilvol in my eyes. What is it for?

A—Colloidal silver iodide (Neosilvol) is a mild antiseptic sometimes used for conjunctivitis and other eye infections. It has largely been replaced by more modern drugs. If it is used it should be fresh and should be stored in the dark because it deteriorates quickly.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

THANK FIREMEN

The Escanaba Rotary Club and the children who spend their summers at Rotary Camp Harstad—want to thank Escanaba firemen for their work in repairing and repainting the children's playthings for the camp.

Wagons and tricycles were made as good as new in appearance. It was a splendid job. We are sure the handicapped children will enjoy the playthings more next summer when they return to camp, and will join us in saying "thank you."

EXPANSION

Mr. August G. Janke
Ely's Potato Chips
Escanaba, Mich.
Dear Mr. Janke:

I read recently with great interest about the major expansion of your company and the new equipment you are adding which will increase your production capacity six times.

Your expansion will be felt in the total economy of your community. Most important, you will be using more potatoes and this means an additional increase in income for the growers in the area.

I congratulate you on your confidence in the future and your determination to increase your market coverage.

Sincerely,
George Romney
Governor of Michigan

EXPATRIATE

The Rev. Gordon Thorpe of Trinity Lutheran Church, in Green Bay, former pastor of Immanuel Lutheran Church in Escanaba, writes: "As we watched the Escanaba Area High School band last Sunday our family was proud, as always, of being 'from Escanaba, Mich.'"

"Speaking of schools, enclosed is an editorial from the Green Bay Press Gazette which is most relevant to Escanaba. I thought you would agree and enjoy it."

The editorial stated in part: "Industries seeking new plant sites weigh a number of factors before making a final decision on a location. One of the most important factors is the quality of the local school system. A recent survey showed that some of the nation's largest companies have gone to great lengths to measure school quality and that a few are now making strong efforts to improve schools in towns where they already have plants."

"Roger L. Yaseen, vice president of the Fantus Factory Locating Service, a consulting firm that helps companies decide where to put a plant, says he has been 'amazed' by the sharp rise in importance of schools in plant site selection, in a Wall Street Journal interview."

"Yardsticks applied to schools when plants study a community as a potential site include whether the system has good long-range plans for providing necessary facilities, how well it pays its teachers, the ratio of pupils to teachers, relations between teachers and community, the qualifications and background of teachers, the quality and breadth of the school curricula and the percentage of graduates who enter college.

"Assessment of a school system has a double meaning for industry. Key employees planning a new plant will be reluctant to move if the proposed site doesn't have good schools. And industry expects to draw many of its workers for new plants from graduates of local schools."

PRAISE

We had the pleasure Sunday of watching the Escanaba High School Band perform during the halftime of the Packer-Dallas football game. We would like to congratulate the band and their director on their excellent performance.

We also think that the people that gave them the chance to go over there should have a big thanks, too, whoever they may be. Since I work with youth a great deal I know what a chore it is to transport a group of that type.

Again—congratulations to the Escanaba Area High School Band. Keep it up!

Trooper and Mrs.
Nalbert Gerber
Manistique

(Note: The Packers paid only $500 of the cost of bringing a band to the game, so Henry Harnischfeger of the Harnischfeger Corp., Milwaukee, supplied the other $500, as it cost $1,000 just for the bus charter for the trip.)

Mali Likes Chinese

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The American official spoke wryly. "I walked through a Communist Chinese exhibition in Mali (Africa). They had bins at the entrance like the old country store bins in the Midwest.

"There were bins of this grain and that, bins of tea and sugar, bins of this farm product and that.

"You couldn't resist scooping up the grain. You wanted to feel and taste it, let it run through your fingers.

"After this, you noticed the sign which said these things were grown in Mali with the help of Peking Chinese technicians.

"Inside, the Red Chinese had farm machines, largely of wood and simply constructed. They looked as though they could be made in Mali and used by the average farmer. The average man could easily understand their repair.

"You'd see people, people off the street who walked in, quickly feel at home in this exhibit.

"The Soviet exhibition, by contrast, was composed of huge, complicated farm and industrial machines. There were exhibits showing Moscow's space achievements.

"The Mali people I talked to felt respect and even awe for the Russian exhibits and Soviet achievements. But the huge machines and complicated scientific equipment seemed out of place and foreign to Mali farmers and small businessmen.

"The American exhibits were someplace in between. We were ahead in that every farm machine in the exhibit was demonstrated by native Mali. But our farm machines and our exhibits, like those of the Russians, seemed not to quite fit in Mali.

"The Red Chinese were definitely in first place. We weren't a bad second. The Russians were in poor third.

"These exhibits seemed typical of the three-way competition in Mali during the time I was there.

"I went up to a Mali town called Sikasso, where Chinese Communist technicians were helping farmers at tea plantations.

"The Chinese technicians were eating and living with the local farmers. They were building ties with the people.

"American technicians working in Mali lived apart. At work and on the streets some did make friendships. But they didn't identify themselves as closely with the people as did the Red Chinese.

"The Russians were at the other extreme.

"I was at an airport one day. The planes had been supplied by the Soviet bloc and the technicians were Russian.

"As I stood there, a Mali official went up to one of the Russian technicians, attempted to engage him in friendly conversation in Russian. He got nothing but abrupt replies.

"After the Russian moved on, the Mali came over to me. He obviously didn't know where I was from, but he could tell I wasn't Russian. He said in French: 'Those Russians are... He used a very vulgar French word. I said something noncommittal. He repeated, 'They're... they're impossible to get along with.'

"This getting along with the people is the strength of the Red Chinese in Mali and the weakness of the Russians.

"It's something many individual Americans do well when they're given the chance. Too often the wrong men are picked, or the right men are picked but put in walled-off compounds or in official houses."

There's now a project under way to change the way the men are chosen.

People, Events Of Yesteryears

From the files of the Escanaba Daily Press

25 YEARS AGO

None of the five wells in this vicinity tested for iron content by the city of Escanaba, showed more than 0.5 parts per million of iron, City Manager George E. Bean reported.

George Pepin, section man for the Soo Line, reported that he had picked strawberries, the second ripening of the crop this season, along the line's right-of-way near Eustis.

All candidates for the new ground school of the civilian pilots' training course which will open soon are asked to register immediately with Dr. William LeMire or at the local airport, Harold Gessner, local director, said.

50 YEARS AGO

During the past week the A. J. Kirstin Co., manufacturers of the One Man Stump Puller, placed in the mails through the local postoffice, 25,000 pieces of advertising matter.

Making the run from No. 2 station at the city hall to Wells and Tilden Ave. and attaching and laying 300 feet of hose before horse drawn apparatus from station No. 1 at the foot of Dousman Ave. three blocks away could reach the scene, Escanaba's new motor fire truck proved its superiority over the department's horse drawn vehicles.

Questions And Answers

Q—Who holds the record for length of flight in outer space?
A—Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr., with 225 hours, 15 minutes.

Q—What is the new law regarding draft cards?
A—It is now a federal crime to tear up or mutilate a draft card. The punishment: Five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Q—What is the origin of the custom of throwing rice at weddings?
A—The rice was intended, by our ancestors, not only to guarantee the couple a large family but to placate any hungry evil spirits present.

Ann Landers

Wife Mistakenly Fires Secretary

Dear Ann Landers: I am a wretched, miserable woman who let my imagination run wild. I accused my husband of things that were not true, put him through hell and insisted that he fire his secretary. I shamed him before his friends, his family and the people he works with.

I have always had trouble with my nerves. This past year was my worst. I felt myself losing control. Whenever my husband came home from work a half hour late I accused him of having an affair with his secretary. Finally I gave him a choice—either fire his secretary or face a nasty divorce. He dismissed her that very week and has not mentioned a word about it since. I know now he did it because he couldn't bear to lose the children.

Three months have passed and I realize I was mistaken. I want to go to the woman and apologize and ask her to come back. My husband says I've done enough and to leave things alone.

My conscience is killing me. Can you help?—SO SORRY

Dear Sorry: It would be an act of charity if your husband would allow you to go to his former secretary and apologize and ask her to return to the office. Even if she refused to return it would help clear the air and you would feel better. I hope he will reconsider.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 17 and a high school senior (male). My parents and I do not see eye to eye on a very important matter.

I had a wonderful job all summer which I enjoyed thoroughly. Now that I'm back in school, my boss wants me to work from 4 to 8 P. M. and on Saturdays. I'd love to, Ann, but my parents said no. They are afraid it might ruin my grades and hinder my chances for getting into a first-class college.

I am very unhappy about the decision. I'm sure I could handle the job and still do well in school. Will you please give me your ideas on this?—METCHEN-ITE

Dear Mr. Some kids can handle both school and a part-time job. Others can't. I recommend a trial period. If your grades slip, the job must be given up.
You sound like a winner to me.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife's mother is a very sweet person who never gets in anybody's way. She is getting on in years, however, and I'm afraid she has a few bats flying in her belfry.

Granny tells our children (aged 10 and 8) that they have "upper class" blood in their veins and they should be very proud. She has told them they are descendants of Christopher Columbus. We are all Swedes, Ann. Apparently Granny does not know Columbus was Italian. She has shown them an opal ring which she says Columbus got from Queen Isabella. The 8-year-old wants to take the ring to school and show it to her class.

My wife insists these little stories are harmless — that kids love to use their imagination and that I should keep out of it. Well, I happen to think it's more serious than that. I don't want our kids to go around believing a lot of poppycock. What do you advise?—A COMMONER

Dear Commoner: Tell the kids that Granny enjoys telling stories but the stories are not actually true. Ask them to listen as they would listen to a fairy tale—just for the fun of it. And keep that opal ring out of school.

Confidential to USED AND ABUSED: Of course he won't get out of your life — why should he? He's never had it so good. So why don't you get out of his?

Are you at war with your parents? Do they have too much to say in your life? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50c in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

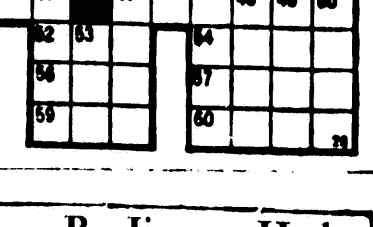

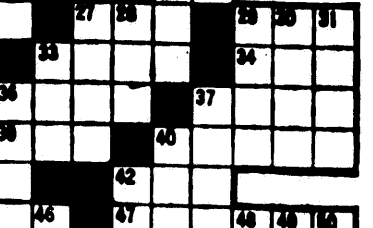

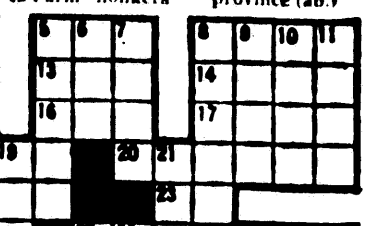

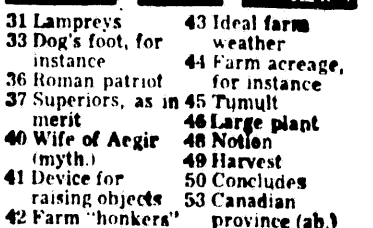

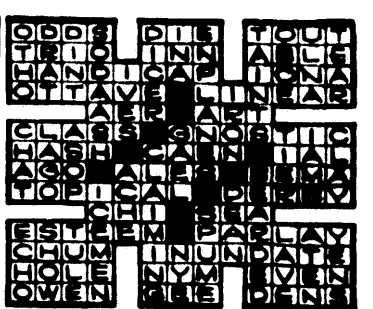

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

Hedgcock Will Be Honored At Northern Rite

MARQUETTE — Northern Michigan University will dedicate the Charles B. Hedgcock Health and Physical Education Building Saturday.

The building, completed in 1958, is being named in honor of Charles B. Hedgcock who retired in 1956 after serving Northern for 34 years, including 11 years as coach of all NMU sports and 22 years as head basketball coach.

The public is invited to attend the dedication program at 10:30 a. m., in the gym of the building.

Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern, said "during his 34 years of service to Northern, Mr. Hedgcock devoted his talent and energy to developing a physical education program which has made significant contributions to University life and which commands the respect of students and faculty alike."

The building houses a fieldhouse and natatorium in addition to the large gym. The fieldhouse, with a seating capacity of more than 5,000 is the largest indoor gathering site in Northern Michigan.

Hedgcock, a native of Illinois, was a high school teacher and administrator at Menominee and Marshfield, Wis., and was a member of the Knox (Ill.) College faculty before coming to Northern in 1922.

Mr. and Mrs. Hedgcock reside in Baneroff Location, Marquette.

Annual Carnival Saturday, Oct. 30

ROCK — The annual Halloween Carnival, sponsored by the Senior class of the Rock High School, will be held Saturday, Oct. 30 at the Rock High School. Doors will open at 6:30 p. m. A talent show will be presented at 7:30. Various games will be featured as well as a spook house and other forms of entertainment. Lunch will be served on the stage throughout the evening.

At 8:30, there will be an auction, followed by the sophomore class play, "Run, Robber, Run," presented at 9:30 in the high school assembly. A dance in the gym will conclude the Carnival. The public is invited to attend.

Board Meeting

The Rock Board of Education met at the school Monday evening for a general meeting. John Norman was approved as bus driver, replacing Arne Marttila. Other drivers are Clifford Carlson, Elmer Lepisto and Reino Kivekas. Supt. George Weingartner reported that using four buses instead of five has been working out quite satisfactorily. This method of transportation has been in effect for about four weeks.

The Board approved bus drivers attending the Bus Driver Workshop at Rapid River; also use of bus for transporting students to Marquette Nov. 6, for Student Council, and Publications conference; and the Freshmen Conference at Marquette Nov. 19 has been approved.

B. J. Noel, safety patrol watchman at the crossing will be on duty from 6 to 8 p. m., Friday, "trick or treat" night.

There are 37 students enrolled in driver's education. Chevrolet and Ford have both offered driver's training cars.

There was a vision screening test at the school for all students Oct. 27. The x-ray unit will be at the school Nov. 3. The November meeting will be held Nov. 29, due to hunting season.

Powers-Spalding Board Meets

POWERS-SPALDING — The Powers-Spalding Board of Education held their regular October meeting recently and discussed Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. It was decided that a steering committee be appointed to prepare pilot programs, most needed by the district, before any board action be taken.

The State Health Department after inspection of the school sewage plant recommended that chlorination equipment be installed to treat the waste after discharge from the plant. Board action on this matter was that this equipment be purchased after consulting various firms for proper size and price. Installation would be in the spring.

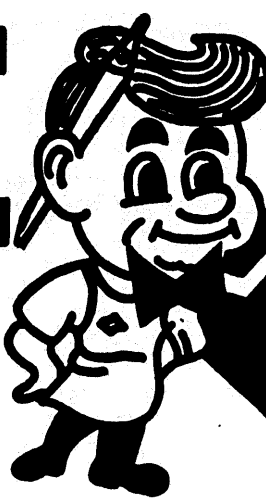

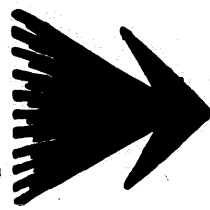

The 1954 Dodge bus was declared surplus after appraisal of the bus fleet and a motion was made to advertise for bids, final bidding date to be Nov. 3.

A letter from the Professional Teachers Organization was read, concerning Public Acts 379 and 282 as passed by the last session of the Legislature, asking that they be recognized as exclusive representatives for professional negotiation or collective bargaining. This action was moved and carried, and a representative of the organization is to be invited to the next regular meeting to discuss matters of negotiation.

First Methodist Will Hold Visitation

An Every Member Visitation program will be conducted in the First Methodist Church of Escanaba during the week of Oct. 31 through Nov. 7. The program will begin with the morning worship service at 10:45 on Sunday, Oct. 31.

Arthur Neiman will be the guest speaker. Sunday evening at 7:30 coffee hours will be held in a number of homes throughout the city. At these cottage meetings the program of the church will be discussed.

During the week following and on the afternoon and evening of Sunday, Nov. 7, teams of visitors will call in the homes of those members who were unable to attend the coffee hours. All members will be given an opportunity to make a pledge for the support of their church.

Trick Or Treat To Aid Area Needy Families

The usual "trick or treat" of Halloween will get a different treatment Saturday evening by the youngsters of the Escanaba Seventh-day Adventist Church according to David Harrison, director of the Pathfinder Club. Instead of treats for themselves, the children will ask for contributions of canned goods to help fill Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets for needy families in the Escanaba area.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Sandra Lee Franke Bride Of Ronald Riach

Sandra Lee Franke, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Jerome E. Franke, 1233 W. County Rd. B, Roseville, became the bride of Ronald Joseph Riach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Riach, 6731 Beard Ave. N. Brooklyn Center, on Saturday, Sept. 4, at Macalester Presbyterian church with Dr. Paul Francis officiating. Marvin Thomason, Des Moines, was soloist. Sandra is the granddaughter of Mrs. G. R. Stegall, 922, 7th Ave. S.

Wearing a candlelight brocade gown with empire lines and a self train, Sandra carried a bouquet of three topiary balls and white pom-pom mums. Her maid of honor, Sandra Mewis, St. Louis, Mo., wore a gold velvet gown with a crepe skirt and train. She carried a topiary ball filled with variegated gold and bronze mums with sprigs of ivy. Bridesmaids, dressed identically to that of the maid of honor were: Marcia Stegall, Ann Arbor, cousin of the bride; Patricia Van Wart, Hampton, Iowa; and Elaine Riach, Minneapolis. The attendants also wore long length satin gowns which were extremely complementary to their attire. Susan Franke, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed like the bride and carried one topiary ball and a single rose.

Gerald Riach was his brother's best man and Lyman Frick, St. Louis; John Gustafson, Minneapolis; and C. William Franke were groomsmen. William Fairbank, Des Moines, and Delmar Docktor, Minneapolis were ushers.

The couple now resides in Des Moines. The bride will graduate in June from Drake University with a teaching degree. The bridegroom received his B. A. degree in business administration from Drake University and will graduate in June with a Doctor of Law degree.

Dropout Class Reveals

Poor Lack Basic Education

The school dropout project in the War on Poverty at Northern Michigan University is attracting attention outside the three counties of the Upper Peninsula where the 94 trainees have been recruited out of 1,000 dropouts. The counties are Mackinac, Schoolcraft and Baraga.

Ivan Ryan, head of the study, which has been operating a little more than a year with trainees on the NMU campus for 9 months, reports the effort to renew the schooling of rural dropouts has brought inquiries from outside the three counties.

"In several instances," said Ryan, individuals have hitchhiked considerable distance to the university to hope project staff members in the visit that there was a possibility of their becoming a part of the program.

"While several individuals were helped in this manner, far too many had to return to their home community with no available means of assistance. Unless training programs are developed under the Economic Opportunity Act through community action, there will be few vocational opportunities for many disadvantaged youth and adults.

I.P. Project Urged

"In rural areas such training programs will be limited because in most instances they would be very costly in view of the fact that there is a limited population and in no case is everyone interested in the same type of training. The funding of an Upper Peninsula-wide program would seem in order.

"The interest in the program and the requests from individuals and agencies would indicate that there is considerable interest and support for a continuation of a similar type program. Inherent in the proposal submitted by the university was the desire to test the feasibility of training individuals who were deficient in reading and mathematical skills.

"From previous experience it was apparent that many persons in need of training under the Manpower Development and Training Act were not eligible for training because they did not possess the needed math and reading skills as determined by tests.

"Early experience with (our dropout) project has indicated that it is possible to upgrade basic education skills and to train for jobs individuals who, by virtue of poor test scores, would have been given a poor probability of success. On this basis the university submitted a proposal under the MDTA for a training program with basic education. It was approved by the State Screening Committee but because of limited MDTA funds was never funded.

Indians In Need
"The interest of the university in such an effort has resulted in their being approached by the Welfare Department in regard to the possibility of a basic education program being provided to welfare clientele desirous of job training. This proposal is being given consideration.

"While the project has been able to assist many dropouts with some Indian ancestry, there remains a large segment of the Indian population living both in and outside of Indian reservations who are in need of a realistic program of assistance. Some programs have been attempted, but basically the Indian lives in poverty little understood by his neighbors and to a degree suffering from prejudice of the white community. Programs to provide possible solutions are being explored in both Mackinac and Baraga counties.

Adult Education
"During this reporting period efforts were made to interest school districts in the three counties to submit a proposal for adult basic education under the state program and to include a high school credit adult education program which is reimbursable under recent Michigan legislation. To date several school districts have submitted proposals under the assumption that 90 per cent of the program operation would be reimbursed.

"The state recently indicated that if all schools approved programs and requested funds the reimbursement rate would fall below 90 per cent. It would seem that in view of the large expenditures to help the disadvantaged, some arrangements might be made to fund programs to the full intent of the law and not put the burden on the sponsoring agency."

Of the placement of dropout trainees Ryan wrote "Employers are seeking skilled workers and are receptive to hiring even the graduate with the least amount of skills providing an intermediate in the form of a person knowledgeable of the trainee's case. The financial assistance and job development provided by the mobility staff has enabled several graduates to relocate. Since Sept. 30, however, this assistance in the form of noninterest bearing loans has not been available.

Better Chance After
"It is apparent that job placement outside the immediate home locality is easier because employers have limited preconceived ideas about the individual being referred and are willing to give him a try. Also the willingness to employ and try disadvantaged rural

The D.U.S. Story: Girls Learn Indian Lore

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of a series of articles about the agencies and organizations which benefit from the D-U-S (United Services drive).)

Trail Seeker, Wood Gatherer, Fire Maker.

To Camp Fire Girls in Escanaba and around the country, these three ranks have great meaning.

In the Indian lore foundation of the organization, Trail Seeker, like Teardrop, is for a Boy Scout, is the first plateau for a Camp Fire Girl. To earn the rank a girl must fulfill requirements in each of seven crafts.

Wood Gatherer is the next step and Fire Maker is the ultimate goal.

Along the path to Fire Maker, Camp Fire Girls are awarded Indian beads designating amount of work done in each craft. They also receive a Trail Seeker charm when requirements are completed for that rank and a ceremonial jacket when they begin work on Wood Gatherer requirements.

The award for Fire Maker is a sterling silver bracelet, which is a coveted award not only because of its beauty but because it symbolizes a girl's work, health, love and loyalty to her family, group and all people.

The heritage of Camp Fire Girls is deeply rooted in Indian lore and many groups still choose to retain Indian ceremonial dress as an alternative costume. The head band, which includes symbols designating the Indian name of the wearer, is worn by all troops.

In recent years, the Camp Fire Girls' program has changed so that Blue Birds, the young Camp Fire Girls, "fly up" to the parent group when they are nine years old. In Escanaba, since sixth graders are now a part of Junior High School, they become Junior Hi Camp Fire Girls at the same time.

Girls also attend summer camp and are taught such things as archery, swimming, canoeing, etc.

Camp Fire Girls is a member of Delta United Services and through its support girls are able to learn and enjoy outdoor activities and sports.

Extension Club
The Spalding Home Extension Study Club met at the home of Mrs. Carl Weissert on Tuesday evening. The Christmas workshop held in Stephenson was discussed. Mrs. Nelson LaBonte and Mrs. Dennis Paquin presented the lesson on "Fit For Fashion," and they showed how to fit and alter a pattern. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Weissert.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Claude Corrigan on Nov. 30.

Casey Free

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Vince Edwards, television's Dr. Ben Casey, was divorced Wednesday by actress Kathy Kersh, who is expecting their first child in five months.

Superior Judge Roger Alton Pfaff granted the divorce to Miss Kersh, 23, and ordered Edwards, 36, to pay $1,500 monthly alimony for one year as well as $300 monthly child support and medical costs for the baby.

Engadine

Burton Fenley has been released from Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital the past week and is convalescing at his home.

The TOPS Club held a Halloween party and meeting at the home of Mrs. Albert Matchin-ski on Wednesday evening.

Nahma Man, 55, Dies In Woods

Ambrose Beaver, 55, a semi-retired woods worker from Nahma, was found dead Wednesday in Masonville Township, State Police reported today.

Dr. Otto Hult, county medical examiner, said cause of death was heart attack. Mr. Beaver apparently had been cutting wood when stricken, troopers reported.

Mr. Beaver was born Aug. 18, 1910, in Nahma and had worked most of his life in the woods. He had been semi-retired in recent years because of a heart condition.

He is survived by his widow, the former Rose Moses, four daughters, Pfc Margaret Jeanne, Sam Houston, Tex., and Mary, Cecilia and Yvonne at home; four sons, John, Joseph, William and Eli at home; and his stepfather, John Moses of Nahma.

The body was taken to the Skradski Funeral Home in Gladstone from where it will be removed to the family home in Nahma Friday afternoon. Parish prayers will be recited at 8 p. m. Friday. Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Saturday at St. Lawrence Mission Church. Burial will be in Indian Point Cemetery.

Need Translator For Letter In 'Old Lithuanian'

Anyone who can read "old Lithuanian" can do a service for an Escanaba family by translating for them a letter they have received from a relative in Russia.

The letter is from an uncle of Mrs. Richard Nelson, 1512 S. 15th St., and so far as it can be translated he is ill in a tuberculosis hospital in Russia.

He asks for assistance and they are anxious to help.

Efforts to fully translate the letter have failed at Michigan Tech and Northern Michigan University.

Persons who can read the "old Lithuanian" are asked to telephone Richard Nelson after 5:50 p. m., number ST 6-2833.

Bender Named To Fair Board

LANSING (UPI)—Acting Gov. William Milliken has announced the appointment of Frank Bender Jr., 44, a mink rancher from Soo Hill, as a member of the Upper Peninsula State Fair Board.

Milliken said Bender, who formerly served on the Wells Township and Escanaba school boards and is president of the National Board of Fur organizations, will serve out the term of Erling Arntzen of Escanaba.

Arntzen resigned from a term expiring May 24, 1967.

Arntzen, Escanaba building contractor, resigned from the Fair Board for reasons of health.

Bender is associated with his father, Frank Sr., and his brother, Kermit, in the Bender Mink Ranch. He is the Upper Michigan Mink Breeders Association's representative to the National Board, which he served as vice president before becoming president a couple of months ago.

He has been an officer of the Upper Michigan Mink Breeders, served as a member and president of the Escanaba Area Board of Education, and was a member of the Wells School Board before the creation of the Area school district. He is a past president of the Delta County Historical Society.

Bender graduated from Escanaba High School and the University of Michigan.

Nahma

Jeff Clayton, Orchard Lake, Ralph Fayer, Livonia, and Kenneth Woodruff, Joe Stafford, Arden LaPalm and Gordon Nash of Detroit are staying at the John Schwartz cabin to do some bow and arrow hunting. Arden LaPalm has already gotten his deer.

Halloween Party
The Nahma school children are having their Halloween party today, Oct. 28. The grade school attended in the afternoon and the high school students will attend this evening. Trick or Treating will be Sunday, Oct. 31.

Relay Blood In Effort To Save Ill Man's Life

The condition of Wayne McCaffery, 40, of Owosso, Mich., continues critical at St. Francis Hospital today despite numerous transfusions of blood.

Blood of the type required was relayed here under emergency conditions with the aid of State Police and Escanaba city police through an arrangement made by the Red Cross blood program.

Blood was brought from Iron Mountain early today and rushed to St. Francis Hospital, where McCaffery was taken at 6:45 p. m., Wednesday by ambulance from the Peoples' Hotel in Escanaba.

Escanaba police were called to the hotel and found McCaffery hemorrhaging from the mouth, weak and in convulsions. McCaffery has been employed by an Escanaba firm.

Blood was flown here also from Menominee by North Central Airlines scheduled flight today and rushed by police to the hospital.

No System

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)—Memo to gamblers with a "system" to beat the game.

The Nevada Gaming Commission reported Wednesday that the state's casinos won $76.8 million during the three-month period from April to June and paid the state nearly $3.8 million in taxes.

Oldest Person Is Baby Girl

The oldest person in Escanaba, officially, is a six-week old baby girl.

Dave Andrews, city editor of the Daily Press, stopped in the County Clerk's office Wednesday to secure a birth certificate for his daughter, Jennifer Jill. According to official records she was born Sept. 17, 1965.

Officially, that makes her 900 years and six weeks old.

Clerks explained it was a simple typing error, but nevertheless would have to be corrected in state records in Lansing. The zero should be a nine.

Graveside Service Held Today For Couillard Infant

Graveside services for Rennee Marie Couillard, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Couillard, 320 S. 7th St., who died at 11 a. m., Wednesday in the family home, were conducted by Rev. Stephen Mayrand at 10 a. m. today at Holy Cross Chapel.

Rennee was born Sept. 9, 1965.

Besides her parents, she is survived by her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kang of Escanaba, and her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Couillard of Ford River.

Widow Of Slain Wayne Student Receives $1,060

DETROIT (UPI)—A check for $1,060 was scheduled to be presented to the widow of a foreign student shot and killed here Sunday night.

The money was collected at the Parker Rust Proof Division of Hooker Chemical Corp., of Detroit.

Employees of the company collected $530 for the widow to assist her in paying funeral expenses, and the company matched that amount.

Abdul C. Accra, 25, Lebanon, was fatally shot as he sat in his auto outside his apartment. He was a part-time employee of Parker.

Mrs. Helen Accra, 27, his American wife, was left with one child and is expecting another.

A 17-year-old teen-ager has been charged with first-degree murder in connection with the shooting.

Job Seekers Numbers Drop

James M. Damitz, manager of the Michigan Employment Security Commission office here, reports there are 373 persons registered for work in the Delta-Schoolcraft area. This is an increase of 60 over September.

Damitz said that of the 373 there are 214 drawing some type of unemployment compensation. This reflects a downward trend in the number of claims filed in the area. Four years ago in October, the claims totaled 456. Each year since then the claims have decreased. Damitz said that although there are other factors involved, it is an indication that employment has increased in the area.

"With few exceptions, employment in our major industries in the area, has remained constant or reflected minor increases," said Damitz. "Although there have been some layoffs in seasonal activities, most seasonal activities are still in operation."

On Oct. 22 a training program for stenographers under the Manpower Development Training Act was completed. Five of the graduates are from this area and they plan to remain here to seek jobs. One trainee was hired before the training ended.

Damitz said that the local MESC office is interviewing and screening applicants for the following training programs to be conducted in Marquette: welder, combination machine tool operator, engineering aide electronics. Anyone interested in learning a trade or skill who has not already made application, can do so at once at the Michigan Employment Security Office, 305 Ludington St., or at the National Guard Armory in Marquette on any Thursday from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m.

County Calls 12 Jurors For Duty

Twelve Delta County residents have been ordered to report to Circuit Court at 9 a. m. Wednesday, Nov. 3, as additional jurors for the current court term.

They are: Margaret Girard, Eunice M. Pohl, Dorothy Lundquist, Lyle Shaw, Ruth Nyquist, Ruth O'Neal and Robert Cousineau of Escanaba, Marcelle Robere and Robert M. Snyder of Gladstone, Frank Brock of Brampton, Chester A. Peak of Ford River and Steve Pscodna, Garden.

Former Gladstone Man Arrested In Deer Killing Case

Russell Kent, 23, former Gladstone resident now of Milwaukee, Wis., remained in Alger County jail today awaiting trial on a conservation charge after failing to post $100 bond when arraigned in Justice Court Tuesday.

Kent pleaded innocent to a charge of shooting a deer in a closed season.

Conservation officers said an Alger County resident reported the license number of a car whose occupants had killed a deer to Alger County authorities Monday. The car was located in Gladstone and officers found blood and deer hair in the car.

Kent was arrested Monday afternoon in Gladstone and taken to Alger County for arraignment. Information on trial dates was not available today.

Leslie D. Savola, 20, a U. S. Marine home on leave in Escanaba who was also involved in the case, pleaded guilty Tuesday to a charge of illegal possession of venison. Justice Ross Davis of Gladstone suspended a fine of $100. Savola paid court costs of $7.30.

Briefly Told

A examination of Escanaba's fire control system and situation has been completed by Clifford Pavale of Detroit and John Wassman, Marquette, of the Michigan Inspection Bureau, it is reported by Fire Chief Nels Bergeson. A report, rating and recommendations will be received by the city in about one month.

Malicious damage to the exterior of Ray's Grocery at 807 Stephenson Ave. was reported to police by Danis Wendt today. The damage occurred last night and there was no burglary, police said.

Escanaba's Civil Service Commission will meet at 4:30 p. m. Monday, Nov. 1, in the City Hall. Business will include examination for position of patrolman and meter reader and transfer of patrolmen from police to fire department, and final consideration of rule change regarding the firemen duty day.

Mary MacGregor Wed To Wayne J. Weaver

Mary Glenn MacGregor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn MacGregor, became the bride of Wayne J. Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weaver in a ceremony at 3 p.m. Saturday in Maple Grove Mennonite Church. The Rev. Norman Weaver officiated.

The bride was escorted by her father. She wore a floor-length brocade satin dress and elbow-length veil attached to a brocade satin-covered pillbox hat. She carried a long stemmed yellow rose.

Emogene Zehr of Manson, Iowa, maid of honor, wore an emerald green brocade satin floor-length dress with shoulder length veil attached to a small pillbox hat. She carried a large bronze mum.

Lawrence Weaver was best man for his brother. Ushers were Lee Miller of Engadine and Stephen Herr of LaGrange, Ind.

Mrs. MacGregor wore a plum-colored knitted suit with black accessories. Mrs. Weaver wore a grey suit with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow roses.

Music was provided by Maxine Zook, Gwen and Jan Miller of Engadine and Polly Kaufman of Fairview.

A reception was held from 4 to 7 p.m. at Mueller township hall. Nora Nelson handled the guest book and Mrs. William Morden Jr., the gift list.

For going away the bride wore a green wool dress and a corsage of yellow roses. They will live at 1818 Georgetown Road, Indianapolis.

Both are graduates of Manistique High School. Mr. Weaver graduated from Hesston College, Hesston, Kan., and both now work at the Indiana Medical Center in Indianapolis.

Indian Group Lived Along Carferry Road

Mrs. Susie Williams, a native Indian of the Manistique area, says that an Indian settlement once existed along the west side of the carferry road.

The houses were black, of unpainted wood, she recalls. The Indian cemetery near the Manistique Pulp and Paper Co. plant was used by people who lived in this settlement, she said.

Mrs. Williams has offered to show interested groups the area where the houses were located. County records show a footpath once extended from the Indian lake to the river mouth, on the west bank.

The cemetery has interested local persons a number of years with some civic groups expressing interest in its restoration.

Information from other sources indicate some Indian graves were moved when highway U.S. 2 was relocated, and that remains of some were placed in baskets in Lake Michigan.

Inland Shipping Will Run Late

Inland Lime and Stone Co. shipping continues to be affected by the strike at one of its major suppliers, reducing tonnage from the port. Shipping operations are expected to continue into late November, John W. Moffat, vice president and general manager reports.

Veteran Retires

Vern Dufour, veteran employee of Inland Lime and Stone Co. will retire Nov. 1. Dufour began with the company on his birthday anniversary, Oct. 26, 1933. He was a railroad engineer for some time and now is railroad dispatcher at the quarry.

Briefly Told

The Recreation Commission meets at 7:30 p.m. today in the Manistique library.

A 13-year-old boy has admitted taking the Hoholuk Plumbing pickup truck, without authority, Public Safety officers report. The youth, who formerly lived here and now resides in Delta County, is being referred to juvenile officials.

A ticket for failure to have vehicle under control was issued by Public Safety officers to Joseph McLeer, 17, of 218 N. 3rd St., following a 10 p.m. accident Tuesday in which a parked car owned by Joseph Hedglen, 58, of Gulliver was damaged.

The Jolly Bakers met at the home of Mrs. G. L. Bouschor. The 4-H group enjoyed cocoa made by Richard Rodgers and Harry Kralik and nominated the two as song and game leaders.

State Police ticketed Francis H. Grachowski, Trout Creek, Albert M. Cote, Milwaukee, and Melvin B. Sharrow, Marine City, speeding, and Herschel H. Byers, Star Rte., wrong lane usage.

Warning Given On Three Drugs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Manufacturers were under orders to warn pregnant women that three non-prescription drugs sold to millions in the past decade might possibly injure unborn infants.

After three years of studies and congressional hearings, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) ordered the warnings added to the labels on preparations containing three antihistamines, two of them commonly used to prevent "morning sickness."

Named in the FDA order were Meclizine and Cyclizine, used to prevent nausea often accompanying pregnancy, and Chlorcyclizine, used for allergies, colds and insect bites.

The drugs have been sold over the counter since 1955. Other preparations containing the drugs and given under prescription to ease pregnancy nausea also must contain the new warning along with a note that the drugs have not been proven effective against vomiting.

The new warning label will be aimed both at pregnant women and those who may become pregnant. Dr. Joseph F. Sadusk, FDA medical director, said the order was based on laboratory studies involving animals. Clinical studies failed to show any increase of congenital abnormalities among infants whose mothers had taken one of the drugs, Meclizine.

"Nevertheless, careful animal studies established that the drugs had produced congenital abnormalities in test animals," he said. "The possibility of injury to the unborn child could not be ignored."

In Chicago, a major drug manufacturer, Chas. Pfizer & Co., said in a statement it disagreed with both the revised labeling requirements for the drug Meclizine and with "the scientific rationale for such requirements."

Dorothy Nichols Heads MEA Unit

RAPID RIVER — President of the Tri-Township MEA is Mrs. Dorothy Nichols. The organization includes the three townships of Masonville, Ensign and Bay de Noc. ## Three Dimension Movie Foreseen

CHICAGO (UPI) — Three dimensional motion pictures and television may some day be as commonplace as your old box camera.

So said University of Michigan scientists who are displaying a radically different camera, using Laser Light, at the National Electronics Conference.

The camera, which has no lenses, is the brainchild of Emmett N. Leith and Juris Upatnieks, staff members at the university's Institute of Science and Technology. They said their methods mark the first radical change in photography in 100 years.

In ordinary photography, an image is recorded on light sensitive film. In Laser photography, the scientists said, the light waves themselves are recorded.

Reflecting light waves from an object are captured on a glass plate and the result is a negative of specks, blobs and whorls called a hologram. It contains everything an ordinary photographic negative would and more because it is three-dimensional.

When a Laser beam is shone through the glass plate negative, the hologram releases the captured waves and a three-dimensional picture is seen.

At the NEC exhibit, long lines of scientists saw a chess board with five men, a toy railroad scene and a model of an army tank. The objects were really back at the university's laboratory in Ann Arbor.

Leith and Upatnieks said "applications that come to mind immediately are television and motion pictures."

"It is possible in principle to produce a hologram television system," they said. However, today's television equipment is not adequate and each receiver would have to contain a Laser light, they said.

"The potential is great but the price is still quite high," they said.

Each object photographed must be illuminated by a Laser light and to this date only small objects, about a foot square, can be photographed. Each glass plate costs about $3 and the Laser equipment used by the university about $8,000.

The wave-front reconstruction process used by the Michigan scientists was discovered by Dennis Gabor of the Imperial College of Science and Technology in London in 1947.

Leith refined the process 10 years ago and began using Laser light with it in 1960. He now directs a staff of 22 specialists working on the process at the Michigan laboratory.

The Jackson District also was cited for publishing an outstanding news letter.

Unlocked Desks Save $250,000?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government can save $250,000 a year by buying desks without standard $2 locks, which most federal employees don't use anyway.

That's the advice from auditors of the General Accounting Office, who said only 10 per cent of the 170,000 desks the government buys each year for $11 million really need locks for security reasons.

In This Corner

with Ray Crandall

We look for a great defensive football game when Escanaba and Holy Name clash for the first time in history Saturday afternoon at the EHS gridiron. Both teams have displayed an impressive ability to keep their opponents out of their end zones this season. Defense has been the trademark of both clubs.

With one exception, Escanaba has either blanked or limited their foes to no more than two touchdowns in eight outings. The exception, scoring 27 points against the Eskymos, was Menominee, Stephenson and Alpena were held to single touchdowns, Marquette and Iron Mountain were shut out and Ishpeming and Kingsford tallied twice each against the stubborn Escanaba defenses.

Although Holy Name has won only one start this season the record is no fault of the Crusader defensive unit. Except for a 20-0 whitewash at the hands of Kingsford, Holy Name hasn't allowed more than two touchdowns in any game.

Individual defensive standouts for the Eskymos include Bob Haack, Steve Oman and Paul Miller. Haack ranks as one of the finest tacklers seen hereabouts in many years. Oman bolsters the Eskey defense tremendously by his very presence, although his appearances have been limited by injuries. Miller, Jack Long and Dave Nyquist also play major roles in the Escanaba defensive play.

Taking over the defensive leadership for Holy Name in recent games has been John Lehouillier, a hard-nosed linebacker who teams with such other stickouts as Dan DeGrand in the middle guard spot, John Way and Jeff Erickson at the tackles and John Gorenchan and Tim Goymerac at the ends.

Offensively, Escanaba rates the edge if past performances this season mean anything. Haack is a constant running threat as is Ray Payment who must be regarded as one of the finest halfbacks in the Peninsula on a pound-for-pound basis. Dan Scheuren and John Anderson give the Eskymos solid punch from the fullback spot. Steve Anzalone is smooth operator at quarterback and is very accurate with short range passing.

The Holy Name offense has produced six touchdowns and halfback Bob Brisco has scored four of them. Brisco combines power and speed with good open field moves to give the Crusaders their greatest running threat. Backing him up is halfback Bill Fodor, a steadily improving ball carrier. Tom Menard has been handling the wingback duties. John Lark throws and runs from his quarterback spot and has contributed one touchdown to the Crusader scoring total. Young Dave Cannon spells Lark at the signal calling position and has one touchdown pass to his credit.

Navy's Rushing Game Gets Look By Irish Coach

CHICAGO (UPI) — Navy's twice-beaten football team can expect no mercy Saturday from Notre Dame's fourth-ranked squad because the Middles showed ground gaining power in last week's loss to Georgia Tech.

Irish Coach Ara Parseghian broke precedent Monday by working his regulars hard, though not in a scrimmage, and pointed out they could expect one of their toughest games from the Middles because they gained "over 400 yards" against Tech.

The Irish expected a more balanced attack from Navy than from last week's rival, Southern California, who stayed on the ground en route to a 28-0 defeat. Navy, on the other hand, passed for 313 yards against Tech.

Whether the Middles will try as many passes against the Notre Dame secondary, which includes Tony Carey, Tom Longo and Nick Rassas, was questionable. Rassas has intercepted five passes this year, running one back for the key touchdown against Northwestern and Carey two.

Parseghian also was concerned because Navy's statistical leaders were not listed as probable starters. Al Roundhouse, the leading ground gainer, will be behind Danny Wong at fullback, and Terry Murray, second in rushing, trails Tom Leiser at left halfback. The leading passer, John Cartwright, will understudy Bruce Buckel at quarterback.

Notre Dame's prospects for its fifth win in six games were high since the squad probably is in its best physical condition of the season, with no one reported seriously injured after the Trojan clash.

Parseghian was expected to start senior Bill Zloch at quarterback and place emphasis on the running of Larry Conjar, Nick Eddy, Bill Wolski and Zloch, instead of on passing.

The Irish passing has been uncertain all season and Zloch

News 'N Notes On NFL Action

WHICH SCHOOL has the most representatives on National Football League rosters this year? Nearing mid-season, the leaders with 19 is Notre Dame. Thereafter, most of the leaders are conference affiliates. Michigan State is second with 16, followed by Louisiana State and Southern California with 13 each, Ohio State 11, Georgia, Maryland, Indiana and Illinois with 10 each, Nebraska and Pittsburgh with 9 each, and Penn State with 8. By conferences, it's the Big Ten by a wide margin. There were 100 Big Ten players on NFL active rosters as of Oct. 25. The runner-up is the Southeastern Conference with 67.

BALTIMORE QUARTERBACK Johnny Unitas says the front four of the Los Angeles Rams—Dave Jones, Merlin Olsen, Roosevelt Grier and Lamar Lundy—give a passer special problems just by their size. "If I had to face them every week I'd have to learn to throw sideways," says Unitas. "There were a couple times against them last Sunday when I had a man in the open but I had to throw off to the side and hope my receiver could 'read me' and adjust. There's just no chance to throw over them—you have to hope your blockers can get you a passing lane." The Rams' four average better than 6-5 and 270 pounds. Jones is the "baby" at 6-4 and 261 pounds; Olsen is 6-5 and 276, Grier 6-5 and 290 and Lundy 6-7 and 260. The Rams were glum on their bus ride to the Baltimore airport after a 20-14 lead dissolved into a 35-20 Colt victory in the closing minutes and when the bus pulled out onto a runway to deliver the players as close as possible to their waiting jetliner, Dave Jones said: "With our luck we'll probably collide with it."

FRAN TARKENTON of Minnesota joined some select company when he passed for 407 yards in the Vikings' 42-41 victory over San Francisco last week. Only 15 passers in NFL history have exceeded 400 yards in a single game and only Sonny Jurgensen, now of the Washington Redskins, has done it more than once. Jurgensen topped 400 three times with Philadelphia in 1961 and 1962. The NFL record is 554 yards by Norm Van Brocklin for the Los Angeles Rams against the New York Yanks in 1951. Tarkenton is the first to hit 400 since Norm Snead passed for 424 for Washington on Nov. 17, 1963, against Pittsburgh. Ironically, most of "sneamiler" Tarkenton's passes were thrown from the pocket against the 49ers. Paul Flatley caught 7 for 202 yards and two TDs and said: "It's about time I had a big day. I've never caught two touchdown passes in a game before."

THOSE 18 PUNTS in the Green Bay-Dallas game may have seemed like a lot but they were well short of the record. The mark is 31 by Chicago Bears (17) vs. Green Bay (14) and Cincinnati (17) vs. Pittsburgh (14), both on the same day—Oct. 22, 1933. "We had to play great defense to stay with the Packers and we did," says Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "We also had to hit the long pass and we didn't," he adds. "Every time we had a long one called they put a tremendous rush on (Craig) Morton. Over-all, Morton did a good job. He still has a lot to learn but he kept his poise." In Green Bay's 13-3 win, Dallas stopped Green Bay with minus 10 yards passing and Green Bay stopped Dallas with minus one yard passing. Combined, the minus 11 is a NFL record for fewest yards gained passing by both teams in a game.

Non-conference games

The Great Northern football conference race goes down to the wire in the first season of competition with the 1965 championship riding on the results of two games which will be played Saturday.

Kingsford's Flivvers could capture sole possession of the crown by defeating arch rival Iron Mountain on the Mountaineer gridiron. Coach Rae Drake's Flivvers enter the contest with a perfect 4-0 record. Iron Mountain has a 1-3 mark and is out of the running for the title.

However, if the Mountaineers should repeat their 1964 upset in which they stunned previously unbeaten Kingsford 6-0 in the season finale, the door will be open for Escanaba to join the Flivvers in the GNC throne room.

The Eskymos enter their finale against Holy Name here Saturday with a 3-1 record in the conference. An Escanaba victory and a Kingsford defeat would leave the teams tied with 4-1 records.

Holy Name, competing in a conference for the first time in the history of the school,

Sports In Brief

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Warriors will play a "formal" basketball game here Nov. 6 with the Detroit Pistons.

The Warriors have invited 100 special guests to attend the game in formal attire as a publicity stunt designed to maintain the classic tradition of San Francisco. All reporters covering the contest will be required to wear black ties, also.

BARCELONA, Spain (UPI) — India's Davis Cup tennis team is scheduled to arrive here Saturday for the inter-zone final against Spain, Nov. 5-7.

Follows Boyer Deal

The departure of first baseman White and shortstop Groat followed that of third baseman Ken Boyer, who went to the Mets last week for pitcher Al Jackson and third baseman Charley Smith in a deal that started the house cleaning predicted after the champions of 1964 plummeted to seventh place this season.

Series Share Biggest Ever

NEW YORK (UPI) — Each member of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers collected $10,297.43 and the American League pennant winning Minnesota Twins picked up $6,634.26 today after baseball Commissioner Ford Frick split the receipts from the richest World Series in history.

Although the seven-game 1965 series drew $2,975,041.60 in gate receipts the winning and losing shares were only fourth highest in history, being surpassed by 1962, 1959 and 1954, where the first four games brought in more money.

Torpedo Buries Sailor's Ashes

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI)—Rear Adm. Hiram E. Cassidy was an underwater sailor and the coveted Navy Cross attested that he was a good one. Cassidy was at home cruising the ocean depths in command of a submarine. On his orders, torpedoes sent many Japanese vessels to the bottom of the Pacific during World War II.

He left his heart in the murky salt water when he retired from the Navy in 1952 after 21 years of service.

Cassidy, 58, died ashore, at Lacombe, La., and his final wish was that his remains be shot from the torpedo tube of a submerged submarine. The Navy will honor this wish Friday.

The ashes of Cassidy, carefully sealed in a steel ammunition box, will swoosh on a column of air from a sub's lethal tubes and sink silently into the shadow-blue depths of the Gulf-stream just over the Continental Shelf.

Cassidy was given a military funeral and then cremated at his native Fairhaven, Miss.

The ashes were sent here to Capt. George C. Cook, commander of Submarine Squadron 12 stationed at the Key West Naval Base, and Cassidy's protégé and longtime friend, Cook will deliver a eulogy at the sea burial.

"He was a fighter. And he was a great man because he inspired others to follow in his footsteps. I am just one of them," said Cook.

1. Card of Thanks

Our heartfelt thanks are extended to all who aided us by acts of kindness and sympathy during the recent death of our husband, father and grandfather, Emil Lamberg. We are especially grateful to those who sent memorial cards and floral offerings. Your kindness will never be forgotten.

Moonshine Still Maker Placed On Job As Welder

DETROIT (UPI)—The employment picture in Michigan is so good now that even a moonshiner just out of a southern prison need have no hesitation in applying.

"Last week we placed a welder, rather freshly out of prison in Atlanta, where he had spent 20 years for making and hauling moonshine," said Malcolm R. Lovell Jr., director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC).

"He learned his welding by making stills. Now he's making $3 an hour welding stainless steel, copper, aluminum," Lovell added.
